

Recommended dosage for Protocel® users

Dosage

- Protocel is a liquid dietary supplement.
- Before usage the bottle must be shaken vigorously as sediments sink to the bottom of the bottle.
- Mix 1/4 teaspoon (1.25 millilitres) with about 1 dl water. The measuring scoops most people use for cooking gives exact measurements.

Protocel® Formula 23

Take Protocel® 23 five times a day. For example: 07:00, 11:30, 16:00, 20:30 and 02:00.

Protocel® Formula 50

Protocel® 50 is taken four times a day. For example: 06:00, 12:00, 18:00 and at midnight.

Customers who have trouble falling back to sleep again after the night dose, are recommended a double dose at bedtime instead.

Proteolytic Enzym

Take one capsule three times a day with a meal.

In 2021, we received a message from Tanya Pierce, the author of the book Outsmart Your Cancer. She is in regular contact with many Protocel customers in USA and her experience is that for customers with severe cases, a double dose gives a better result. If you want to know our opinion in your particular case, send us your disease profile by email.

General advices

- Be sure to never let the dosage interval be more than six hours. Except if you take a double dose before bedtime as mentioned above.

- Make sure that you drink 1,5 litres of water every day.
- In your diet you should minimize all types of carbohydrates. They break down to sugar in the body. "Cancer lives on sugar".

Your diet and Protocel®

Protocel works best if the following supplements are excluded: Vitamin C, Vitamin E, Q 10 and Selenium. You get enough of these vitamins and minerals via berries, vegetables, nuts, fish and meat.

About Protocel®

The development was made in the USA in the years 1930 to 1980 by the chemist Jim Sheridan. We at MedNature have been resellers in Europe since 2012 with a turnover of just over one million SEK in the last 5 years.
